or, Rainsford and Other Residents Charged With Disturbing the Religious Harmony of the Summer Resort—The Hon. S. H. Blake Publishes a Caustic Letter. QUEBEC, Aug. 19.-The Hon, S. H. Dinke, a governor of Toron to University; the Rev. Dr. Rainsford, of New York; the Rev. G. A. Kuhring, and the Rt Rev. Charles Hamilton, Lord Bishop of Ottawa, figure in a church difficulty at the villings of Murray Ray, a St. Lawrence hiver summer resort. By reason of the many summers that they have lived at their cottages at Murray Bay, the Hon. Edward Blake and the Hon, S. H. Blake have become closely identified with this watering place. As long age as 1865 the Hon. S. H. Blake was one of the parties to the original agreement for the erec-tion of a Union church at Point-a-Pic, adjoining Murray Bay. In the building so constructed Sanday morning and evening services have been alternately held during the summer season for thirty years by clergymen of the Church of England and Presbyterian communions. Many Americans have cottages at Murray Bay. Some of them are said to have been disconducted by Mr. Kubring of the Anglican Church under the direction of the committee composed of Mr. Blake and his friends. A deputation of the higher church party waited some time ago upon the Bishop of Quebec, and with his concurrence and approval, erected a little church called St. Anne's-in-the-Field. Some of these people are parishioners and more of them warm admirers of the Rev. Dr. Rainsford of New York, formerly of Toronto. who is spending his summer vacation at Murray Bay, and who is giving his support to the new church. Its attar ornaments and colored Yestments are extremely handsome and are chiefly gifts of the ministers and other rich American families of the congregation. The dedication took place on St. Anne's day. July 26. The Rev. A. J. Balfour, Rector of St. Peter's Quebec, is the clergyman in charge, having been appointed by the Bishop of Quebec. The Rev. Dr. Green of New York preached the dedication sermon, and among those in the channei was Bishop Hamilton of Ottawa. A few days before the dedication ceremonies

John Rathbun Oliver, one of the American members of the new congregation, sent an invitation to S. H. Blake to attend. Mr. Blake promptly returned this reply: "My DEAR MR. OLIVER-I am in receipt of your note of to-day's date, and thank you for your intended kindness. At the same time I cannot but feel annoyed that you should suppose that I would be present at the opening of your little chapel. At a time when, and in a country where, it is of Immense importance to show the reality of the unity that exists among all believers in the Lord Jesus Christ, and when a church has been erected and services have been carried on for over 30 years, to testily to this great truth, I cannot but feel that it is a wicked act to enleavor to break up this state of matters, and to seek to introduce a spirit of discord. If this be not the sin of schism, it is perilously near it, "This act is the more to be regretted in the present case, as I understand the building in question is erected to the memory of a departed relative. One would have thought that at least over the grave hands might have been shaken and differences have been forgotten, instead of emphasizing them by the erection of this monument to them. The Rev. G. A. Kuhring is the elergyman at present conducting the Church of England services in the ant Church. Faithfully yours. "S. H. BLAKE." England services in the Murray Bay Protest-

Mr. Blake himself has printed both letters and circulated them among the summer residents of Murray Bay and Point-A-Pic, followed by strictures of his own upon "the Bishop dressed up in the gew-gaw adornments of the church of Rome; with mitre and all sorts of millinery hitherto unknown to our reformed church alter lights, wafer bread and fasting

A GERMAN OPINION OF OUR NAVI. Naval Constructor Neudeck from Manila

Praises Our Ships and Men Naval Constructor George Neudeck of the Imperial German Navy was a passenger on the outgoing steamer Patricia, returning to his native country after serving for two years and a haif with the German squadron in the extreme East. In an interview with a Sux re porter just before his departure, he praised in flattering terms the ships of the American navy and the men who have built them.

"As a result of my visits to all your great shippards," he said, "I can say that the new ships now building for the navy are among the finest in the world, if they are not superior to all others, as I am sometimes inclined to think The reason for the excellence of these ships and others that are ready, I seek in the intelli gence of your workmen, and in the mechanical genius of the whole nation. Work is expensive here, but the result is better work, and a greater feeling of responsibility on the part of the workmen, who draw high wages. A secondary result of these conditions is that the workman has both incentive and opportunity to obtain a better education.

"I have only praise for the personnel of your navy. The marksmanship of the men I wit nessed at Manila and it was very good, and the officers maintain good discipline But the man who stands ahead of all is Admiral Dowey, whom I consider one of the greatest captains who ever commanded a fleet. I put no belief whatever in the rumors about his remarks at Trieste. I know him too well. "I wish to say a word in defence of Gen. Otis, whom I look upon as a much abused man. He has about 20,000 men under his command, and he is expected to subdue and pacify a population of we don't know how many millions. An army of 100,000 might be

The Job Neatly Done With Electricity and the Pier Left Standing.

CLINTON, Ind., Aug. 19,-The wagon bridge which had spanned the Wabash river here for half a century, was wrecked yesterday by electricity. Efforts were made to burn it, but it was found this would injure the piers, so the sfils were wired and electricity applied. The current was turned on at 5 o'clock in the morning and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the pile of timbers toppled into the river, leaving the foundations intact. The electricity cut all the sills simultaneously as with saws. This was the only toll bridge remaining in Indiana. Twothousand persons sent up a mighty cheer as the spans went tumbling into the water.

Deputy Commissioner Hilliard has transferred the liquor tax certificate for the saloon at 176% Broadway from James J. Corbett to John Hoffman of 897 Fleetwood avenue. The former pugilist opened the downtown café several months ago, after his saloon at Thirty-jourth street and Sixth avenue had become firmly established, thinking it would be as successful as the older place. He found, however, that many of the persons who went to the saloons did so expecting solely to see him. Therefore he deeided to give up the resort in lower Broadway. ## SURELY A FREAK STORM.

This Latest West Indian Cyclone and the Wenther Bureau Are Strangers Yet. After a short absence from the United States Weather Bureau's range of observation, the elusive West Indian cyclone has puzzled the weather sharps by reappearing off Cape Hatteras, where it was reported last night to be sea. For forty-eight hours its edge had been felt along the entire coast of North Carolina. A barometer reading of 26.64 at Norfolk, Va. northern limit at that time. Just what section the storm will next seek is worrying the weather bureau, as in reappearing after passing out to sea it has quite upset calculations. which were based upon the progress of other similar storms.

In nearly every case before this, storms that have passed out to sea from the coast of Florida have disappeared permanently. The present hurricane's reappearance, together with its ago and vitality, mark it as an entirely new ype, according to local forecaster Emery. He said yesterday that the present condition of the storm, or the influence which brought it back to the coast, could not be determined by the Weather Bureau, as the bureau has no stations out among the billows. At present, he said, the storm was central off the North Carolina coast and was making its presence felt by gales and heavy rains. In view of its freak lines of travel, the Weather Bureau is making no predictions as to its future progress. Mr. Emery said that he was prepared to see ti turn up anywhere.

CHALLENGES BATHHOUSE JOHN. A Dude Pedler of Reading, Pa., Wants a Clothes Exhibition Contest.

READING, Pa., Aug. 19 -1 hereby challenge 'Bath House John' or any other American owner of clothes to a competitive display of wardrobe. I will put up $30, the pot to go to the charity the winner may name," is the card issued by Thomas G. Cummings, aged 35, of this city. And yet, on the road, Cummings looks like a tramp. Dusty, grimy, unshaved, in greasy, well-worn raiment with a pack on hisback, Cummings tramps through eastern Pennsylvania, earning an honest living as a pedier of small wares. This he does to weeks at a stretch, coming to his home here and departing again under cover of darkness. But when he is off duty, he will take a rest for as many half days and evenings as is necessary to exhibit his entire wardrobe to the people of Heading Just now the young nedler boasts of 35 suits of clothes. He says they are not combinations He never doubles up. They are all distinct suits, raging with customary violence some miles at | in themselves, with neck nes for each. He has fourteen summer suits and twenty-one winter suits, including high silk hats, canes, and um brellas to match. He has several military suitsvesterday morning at 8 o'clock, marked its | Spanish and American. He has navy attire, sailor's rig; a gorgeous band-master's uniform; bicycle and golf suits, though he never rides or plays; he has a horseman's outfit, but was neveounted; a Zonave's uniform, and one of a Turkish soldier. Every suit was specially made order. They are not of the finest material. ing the winter, he has appeared in church in full evening dress. For creating too much of a sensation in one of the churches, he was taken into custody, but released on his own recognizance. He orders his clothes specially made after his own design, and pays for them promptly out of his hard carnings. Dress is his only dissipation. His red, white and blue suit is his heart's delight. Cummings supports his mother and sister, and what is left he spends for his hobby-parading the public promenades to the surprise and amusement of his friends who smile when they see him in something new. His favorite position is posing on a prom inent corner, or rapidly walking up and down the street. Even the hoodlums let him go unmo lested. Everybody greets him with "Helio, Tommy." Some call him Tommy Collins.

When Collins returns from a long peddling trip, a shave, bair cut and a Turkish bath transform him, and he is ready for one of his favorite uniforms. When he becomes tired of his mania for display and when his spell for clothes has been atisfied, he will put on his tramp clothen, take up his bundle of wares, and go out on the dusty highways again. He says he can only sell to the farm ers and country people when he is dressed poorly. However, the country folks know his city way when he is not selling notions and medicines He neither drinks nor smokes, and so far as char acter is concerned, no one can say anything against him. Whether Bathbouse John will accept the challenge will develop later. A copy of the challenge has been sent to him and to Hinky

QUEER BONES ON AN INDIANA FARM. Two Skeletons That Seem Prehistoric Found in a Stone-Walted Grave.

Indianapolis, Aug. 19. - Wratt Wiley, a Clarke County farmer, digging down several feet in a knoll to-day struck a broad flat stone. When the earth was removed the stone was found to be supported by other stones forming a kind of a box. The bones of two human beings were found inside, on the bottom being those of a man, stretched out at full length. and on top in a crouching attitude the skeletor of a woman. The eavity of the woman's skull was so small that she could have possessed little brain. The paw by es were massive, and the teeth were larger than those of women of this day. The two skulls were shaped entirely different from that of an Indian, being much narrower and running almost to a point on top. The grave was dug as true to the east and west as if a compass had been used in laying it out. No implements, so common in Indias graves, were found, but in the hand of the man was a piece of metal believed to be sliver.

Sullivan's Union Friends About Him. A complaint was made yesterday by Dele-gate Hall of the Amagemented Painters' gate Hall of the Amagemented Painters'
Union that State Senator Timothy D. Sullivan is employing non-union men in the Dewey Theatre, which he owns. As he has declared himself at various times the sympathetic friend of the labor unions an appeal is to be made to him to employ only union labor, before action looking to a strike is taken.
